The Transport Trust welcomes applications from individual restorers, Museums, Charities and properly constituted Preservation Societies but the Trust's own charitable status requires it to place on record that, in the event of a sale of a restored item for which an award has been made by the Trust towards the restoration (within 3 years of making the award) the Trust might require repayment of the sum awarded if the recipient of the proceeds of sale is not a Museum, Charity or properly constituted Preservation Society. The maximum award for any one item is £2,000.
